

Trish Radge – Bio

Client Services Manager at The Chartist

www.thechartist.com.au

After graduating in 1990 with a Bachelor of Business Trish spent several years working in personnel and training before having children. Keen to return to work but wanting to stay home with the kids in 1998 Trish and Nick Radge established a stock market education company, Reef Capital Coaching. In 2005 they received an Australian Financial Services licence and created The Chartist – www.thechartist.com.au an internet-based business providing stock market strategies for self-managed investors primarily aged between 45-55.

The Chartist is based in beautiful Noosa Heads, Queensland. As Client Services Manager Trish oversees compliance, accounts, website maintenance and customer service. Focused on providing exceptional service, Trish is fast to respond to queries and prides herself on knowing all clients by name.

Outside of work Trish loves travelling and playing golf plus she is an active member of the Cooloola-Noosa Life Education Association, empowering children and young people to make healthy life choices.
